roughs" lead to rotten legislation. This is as true of a city as it is true of the PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.

> SULLIVAN and Slavin are getting close enough together to justify the prediction that there will be some pretty lively slugging before long. Here's a tip on the Boston boy.

THE Democratic party of Texas don't need any oracles. The national platform is oracle enough for them. Politicians afraid of their shadows had better quit playing oracle and play ball.

FARMER SHAW and Laborer Crowley got their man in as receiver for the International railroad, and yet they do not seem happy. We, the laboring men, seem hard to please. Did they expect to run the road?

IF Fort Worth does not wish to incur the risk of injunction and obstacles to further progress it should not insist upon investing one man away out on the prairie with the same political power that is given to five men in the SECRET political societies have falled to thrive in the republic; the Mafia went down in blood, and no traffic association, however powerful, can hope to escape the common fate of secret societies in the United States whose aims are dangerous to the public welfare.

WHEN the Noble Old Rips took compiete control of the national administration, presidency, senate and house in 1889, there was a surplus. Instead of reducing the taxes, the Noble Old Rips increased the tariff taxes and squandered the surplus. How long, oh, Lord! how long?

ONE railroad was not enough to go around with the Tyler crowd. So Whittaker and Bonner got hot in the collar. Attorney-General Hogg knew them so well that he required a complaint in writing from someone not after a divide of the chicken pie. Those gentlemen don't get pie very often, but when they do it takes one whole pie for a mouthful.

THE Republican party believes "there s one more president in the bloody shirt." Therefore the pension list was extended to capture the "soldier vote." and the vote that plays soldier in order to come in for a slice of the pension grab. The Democrats should not be blind to the campaign to which they are challenged by the Noble Old Rips. A mistake in the Democratic campaign would be a crime against the people.

RECEIVERSHIPS are the outgrowth of judicial construction, and not statutory enactments. The sooner there are both state and Federal statutes, the better it will be for the stockholders and the people who pay the freight. In these matters there is too much judicial construction and discretion, and not enough law. It seems to be what the lawyers call an equity proceeding, with very little equity in it. It is referred to the campaign of education.

THE Democratic party in Tevas is in no danger, but those leaders or office holders who want it to evade a live issue are in danger. No men will go o the congress or remain there selemnly declaring his opposition to the national bank system or the subtreasury bill. The average Demoeratic voter has made up his mind to know what he favors or keep him at home. What specific method is proposed to put this legal tender in circulation?

CUT-THROAT personal politics and a desire to get the receivership in the Federal court seems to have been at the bottom of the International railroad receivership. As extravagant as they were, the allowances were not so much as the McCormick and Clark allowance in the Cotton Belt case. That was so enormous that it caused mention in the United States senate and called out the "Dear Coke" and "Dear George" letter still familiar in Texas political literature.

IF, as predicted by Mr. Carlisle and other Democratic leaders, a reduction in the tariff means no reduction in the annual revenue, then where will the deficit come in on which to issue legal tenders? If we are to have banks of circulation instead of national banks, on what basis will they secure the government for legal tenders advanced them? The ablest speech or letter wont enable any one to escape the issue. The party will have to meet it in this congress and the next platform.

A MAN who can only answer by saving a thing is un-Democratic, and then can't point to the plank in the platform violated, should be laughed out of the fight. Men go to the national platform for their politics on national issues, and to the state platform for their politics on state issues. No individual or set of individuals have power to judge a man's Democracy. The free Democracy of Texas, the men who elect the ticket, have made up their minds that the party will get out of the breastworks and pitch a battle on well defined lines.

THOSE Democrats who think they can keep the people from discussing the best method of getting the legal tender in circulation, are not in it. If we are to have no banking system, the Democratic party must say so. If we are to have one, the party must say what kind and on what basis. A great many national bankers say the present system is Democratic, and point to the national Democratic platform to show that it is not condemned. The Democmore in the South than it gains in the East.

How much better will the International and Great Northern railroad fare in the hands of the United States court receiver, with such allowances as were made George Clark and young McCormick in the Cotton Belt case, or the receivers of the Texas and Pacific and Houston and Texas Central railroad cases? Waco not only wants the pie that belongs to it territorially, but wants Tyler's pie when there isn't enough to go around at home. If the stockholders and freight payers are to suffer, let it be by state courts, where they at least can change the judge, rather than by United States judges that hold for life and laugh at criticism, and cannot be investigated. The people are being made to pay for an investigation in the interest of personal polities and rival litigants.

STIRRING UP THE PEOPLE.

The fight over the sub-treasury is raging in Mississippi more heatedly than in Texas. President Polk of the National Alliance and Congressman Livingston, the Alliance representative from Georgia, are conducting a "campaign of education" in that state, and great crowds flock together to listen to their speeches. Col. Hooker, a Democratic congressman and one of the most effective speakers in the country, is canvassing the state against the subtreasury, and his audiences are as large as those that go to hear the two Alliance campaigners. The people of the state are wrought up as in an ordinary political campaign, and the interest is extending.

That is good for the cause of truth. Once get the people a-thinking, and while their logical ratiocination may not be exact, and may for a while involve them in error, it will bring them at last to the right conclusions. The main thing is to arouse them to take an interest in political work. A big crowd may think wrong and do wrong as well as a small crowd may, but if they think at all they are not so likely to do wrong as if they did not think. More good than evil will come of this stirring up of things in Mississippi.

THE COMMISSION AND BAILWAY BUILDING.

As regards the matter of future railway construction in Texas, the Dallas News prints this item:

A gentleman from Southern Texas said to a News reporter last night: "Notwith-standing the prediction made by Mr. Gould, I believe there will be considerable railroad construction in Texas within the next two Unless Mr. Gould's combination gobbles the entire railway system of the state I don't see how it can be otherwise.

Another paper quotes a prominent rail-way man as saying that the extent of rail-way construction in the state will depend almost wholly upon the attitude of the commission; that "capitalists do not care to put their money at the mercy of a political com-mission; that if the commissioners prove that they are inclined to do the right and act fairly by the roads, well and good, otherwise railroad building in Texas will be practically dead.' Of course there is something in this, but if railway construction is to depend upon the attitude of the commission the Post feels sure that the people have nothing to apprehend in this respect. The commis-sioners are all good men, thorough Texans with the good of the state at heart, fully endowed with common sense, and there is absolutely no grounds upon which to base an opinion that they will act otherwise than fairly and justly to the roads and people alike.

The best thing the newspapers and all others can do is to stop these predictions of the bad to come, wait patiently and judge the commission by its performances.— Houston Post.

During the canvass for "Hogg and a commission," it was freely asserted, by press and individuals, that Texas would be ruined by the election of Hogg and the adoption of the commission amendment. THE GAZETTE then protested against the folly of such assertions, and the railroad construction now going on, and that contemplated, is proof of the ignorance or insincerity of the opponents of Hogg and a commission. Time makes all things even.

A RAILROAD COMBINE.

The Chicago Herald of a recent date gives out some information concerning the plans of the Western traffic association, formed about six months ago, that will be of interest to the reading public. From the facts stated the Herald concludes that, innocent as it appeared at first, the association has recently developed the purposes and attributes of a giant trust or combine such as the law frowns on.

General Manager Walker of the traffic association sent a secret order June 11 to the managers of the lines of railroads in the association, instructing them to furnish no information concerning the association or the business of the roads represented in it to any newspaper or representative thereof. Any disregard of the instructions will draw after it consequences similar to those experienced by Traffic Manager Leeds of the Missouri Pacific, who was discharged recently for cutting rates. The instructions have a peculiar significance at this time, when questions of vital importance and great public interest are under consideration by the association, whose decisions are anxiously awaited. These questions, or two of the most important, relate to a division of traffic, virtually a pooling arrangement, and the creation of joint agencies. The roads interested in the association are known as the "Big Six," and are said to be completely under the control of Gould. The combination is a powerful one, that can cripple other lines that may be disposed to do an independent business, and oppose joint agencies or traffic division, or whatever schemes the combine resorts to for its own aggrandizement.

There is something dark and sinister in the instructions to general managers, forbidding, under severe penalties, the giving of any news concerning the association to the press. Fublic sentiment will hardly indorse an order of should be evened up. "Rotten bur- racy by an evasive platform will lose | that sort, or look with favor on a come the state.

bination that hopes to get on and destroy its competitors by veiling its plans and purposes, by working like conspirators in the dark, and by saying in effect, "the public be d-d."

SUBJECTS FOR THE DEMOCRATIC

CLUBS. We print a letter from a writer in Hazel Dell, presenting a number of categorical interrogations that relate to the welfare of the Democratic party, propounded to our correspondent by enemies of Democracy. We call the attention of Mr. Gibbs to this matter, and suggest that he have these questions considered and debated in the Democratic clubs that he is organizing. The only fault we have to find with them is that they are not comprehensive enough. There are several questions that are omitted from the catechism, which might claim a place there as being as relevant as the others. The proposers of these questions should not have limited themselves to so narrow a field of inquiry, as long as they are in quest of knowledge. We will mention a few more that might with propriety be considered along with the others.

1. Is the Democratic party of the nation the author of the Reconstruction acts and the Fourteenth amendment?

If so, why and how, and what for? 2. Was the nomination of Horace Greeley by the Democratic party the carrying out of an agreement to that effect made with him when he went on Jeff Davis' bond?

3. What deep, dark Democratic conspiracy led to Ben Butler's candidacy for president in 1888?

4. If gold is demonetized, wont the Wall street silver-bugs make the bonds payable in silver, and compel us to charter a freight train at heavy expense when we send money East to redeem the bonds?

5. Why didn't the Mills tariff bill pass the last congress, with the house, senate and presidency in the hands of the Republicans?

6. Does Governor Hogg wear a cor-

7. Why did Senator Johnson vote for an elective commission after he had prepared a bill for an appointive commission?

8. Will Governor Hogg order the commission to tear up the tracks of the railroads if they don't come up liberally with contributions to the Demoocratic campaign fund next summer?

9. Why does the Democratic party, being a Southern party, continue to hold down the price of cotton, which is Southern product?

Here are some really important questions to be thought over and anwered, after those have been satisfactorily settled that our correspondent asks. These latter have precedence, as being first presented, but we submit that those propounded by THE GAZETTE are more searching and will more clearly bring out the villainous and revolutionary designs of the Democratic party. Turn on the calcium.

IT CAN Advertising is the life blood of business. Merchants who wish to reach the purchas-ing classes should invite them to call by ad-vertising in THE GAZETTE, which has a larger circulation than any paper in Texas. BE DONE.

County Superintendent Pool Talks Interestingly About It.

The attention of teachers and those interested in the North Texas summer nor-mal is invited to the following statements: Professor T. G. Harris having been elected superintendent of the Dallas city schools has, on this account, resigned as as-sociate principal of our normal. His resignation was offered too late to be mentioned in our announcements, which have been widely circulated.

We regret to part with Professor Harris, but the Normal management has been exceeding fortunate in securing a gentleman for this vacancy of such scholarly attainments and intellectual ability that no loss ments and intellectual ability that no loss will result to the Normal.

The gentleman referred to is Professor W. H. Kimbrough of Fort Worth. He is a graduate of Carson college, Tennessee, of the class of 1881; has had ten years successful experience as a teacher. He is regarded by those who know him as one of the ablest school men in Texas. Time is the only eleschool men in Texas. Time is the only element necessary to render this fact well known throughout the state. He is remarkably well adapted to the position to which he has been chosen. No better summer normal will be found this year in Texas than the one which opens at Fort Worth University, Wednesday, July 1, 1891, at 8-15 a. m.

Brooklyn Heights.

Within the past sixty days $20,000 has been invested in the Moore iron works company, better known as the stove foundry, by some of the most successful and conservative financiers of Fort Worth. The labor force has been largely increased and the number of orders for their product is con-stantly increasing. No industry in our midst has had a more phenomenal success, or has a brighter outlook for the future. Houses are wanted in this addition and here is an opportunity for the conservative man to help Fort Worth by investments as well as helping himself.
